43. HOW TO GET INVOLVED
Looking back at 2020 and the past decade of Paper for Water, we are grateful for the dedication of our incredible youth volunteers. Despite the pandemic, our youth and Change Makers continued to meet regularly on Zoom and host socially distanced fundraisers.

From the beginning of Paper for Water, youth volunteers have been crucial to our mission. In 2020, it was difficult to recruit new volunteers and we were unable to host most of our folding parties. Because of this, our youth volunteers stepped up and took initiative to ensure that Paper for Water was still able to provide safe water and sanitation to those in need. Thanks to our donors who support our youth programs, we were able to provide volunteer and leadership training and development throughout the pandemic. Change Makers learned skills such as volunteer cultivation, how to plan and lead a productive meeting, and how to write a compelling donation letter.

To celebrate the past ten years, we are writing a book about our journey with Paper for Water. We are grateful for your continued support. Paper for Water would not be possible without our incredible volunteers and donors. As we look forward to the next 10 years of Paper for Water, we are excited to see all the amazing things we will accomplish together.

Sincerely,

Katherine and Isabelle Adams
IMPACTING YOUTH
THE HOCKADAY SCHOOL ANNUAL DAY OF SERVICE

JANUARY 2020: The Hockaday School partnered with Paper for Water for their Annual Day of Service. Hockaday is a college preparatory day and boarding school for girls located in Dallas, Texas. Its Institute for Social Impact headed up by Laura Day, focused on the world water crisis for its 2019-2020 school year, and its effect on education and girls worldwide. The entire student body participated in the day’s activities which included walking while carrying pails of water to illustrate the daily reality that millions face in order to retrieve water.

The students have been raising funds to benefit a school in Kenya without clean water access. They sold hair ties with 844 million written on them representing the number of people in need of clean water. Currently, their origami club is creating origami Mother’s Day cards to further this endeavor.
FEBRUARY 2020: Paper for Water was invited by BBYO, a nonprofit Jewish teen movement, to speak at their 2020 annual convention in Dallas. Volunteers from Paper for Water shared our mission with nearly 100 youth during BBYO Leads Day.

JANUARY 2020: An elementary reader about Paper for Water was published and made available to schools in the United States at the beginning of 2020. Over one million copies were published and utilized as reading curriculum. Paper for Water hopes it will educate students about the world water crisis and inspire them to change the world.
SEPTEMBER 2020: This engaging outdoor origami party was the fulfillment of a silent auction item offered at the annual event fundraiser. Katherine and Isabelle led the event which brought together students from various schools in Dallas as well as their parents for a fun afternoon of origami. Not only was this a Covid-safe and fun way of connecting with others but, it also served our efforts in spreading the word and our mission. Engaging young people to learn about the world water crisis is one of our key mission objectives. Knowledge is power and when young people learn about the water crisis they always want to help. We believe people of all ages have the power to make the world a better place for the Thirsty.

MOTHER’S DAY WORKSHOP WITH EARTHX

MAY 2020: Paper For Water partnered with EarthX on May 8th to host a special Mother’s Day celebration. Since 2013, Paper For Water has been part of EarthX’s educational programming. Co-CEOs Katherine and Isabelle Adams were given an opportunity to share their passion for solving the water crisis with a new audience and to connect through the craft of origami. The virtual workshop featured two different handmade origami gifts to give to Mothers everywhere.

"My original purpose had been to get them motivated to look around and see both boys and girls of their age becoming heroes, doing things beyond themselves to help others. That's when I came across Paper for Water. My students were surprised and amazed by your work!"

APRIL 2020: Paper for Water’s 30-Day Origami Challenge caught the attention of Irene Hadjivasili, an elementary teacher in Cyprus, an island country in the Eastern Mediterranean. Irene used the YouTube videos from the 30-Day Origami Challenge to engage her students virtually since their school was closed due to COVID-19.

Highlighting Paper for Water as an example, Irene taught her students that young people have the power to positively impact the world and make a difference.
NORTHPARK CENTER CHRISTMAS TREE INSTALLATION AND VIRTUAL CHRISTMAS CARD

NOVEMBER - DECEMBER 2020. For the holidays, our team of volunteers decorated three wonderful Christmas trees at NorthPark's Neiman Marcus Court. We captured this moment with a time-lapse video that illustrates the effort and care each person contributed to making the vision become reality. The Christmas trees were a beautiful way to reach more people in the local Dallas area. Paper For Water engaged young people with an instructional Christmas card origami craft video available through the NorthPark Center holiday digital platform.

MAIA'S EDUCATIONAL VIDEOS

NOVEMBER 2020: Maia created several videos for Paper for Water's "Countries we serve" educational initiative. She is a local student who volunteers for Paper for Water. These videos prompted Maia to develop her research and communication skills as she summarized her findings and educated the viewer effectively. Thank you to Maia for the time and effort she dedicated to making these educational videos highlighting several countries such as Haiti, Guatemala, Rwanda, and Zambia.

YOUTH VOLUNTEERS
ONE OF A KIND GIGA CRYSTAL

JANUARY 2020: This one-of-a-kind Giga Crystal model was designed by Tomoko Fuse & Kunihiko Kasahara and folded by Stephanie Keyes, Emily Saalfield, Tessa White-Parsons, and Dallas Knoop who are students at Oregon State University.

The Giga Crystal took about two months for the team to complete using 1,362 pieces of paper. It is comprised of 816 connectors, from 1" squares and rectangles, 546 cube units, from 2" squares, and there are 91 cubes in the structure.

At Paper For Water, we know the water crisis is as complex as this cube. Thank you to these students for taking the time to create such a beautiful origami piece to donate to Paper for Water.

JESSICA AND THE ART HONOR SOCIETY

February 2020: A motivated and special young woman from New York decided to put her passion for origami to a greater use and partner up with Paper for Water! This young woman, Jessica, organized an origami workshop through her Art Honor Society where around 20 classmates participated. Jessica led them through a presentation not just on Paper for Water, but on the world water crisis and the art of origami. Through her workshop, Jessica and other classmates were able to help raise awareness, create beautiful origami that they donated to Paper for Water and earn service hours.

We are proud of Jessica and her efforts and are grateful as well to Mrs. Diamond, Ms. Wang, Ms. Cassady, and Ms. Shofield for helping support Jessica during this process.
MONTHLY FOLDING PARTIES

JANUARY 2020: 2020 started with over 90 volunteers who joined us despite the snow and cold. We began folding origami for the upcoming holiday and Christmas season.

FEBRUARY 2020: We had a record setting 135 volunteers join us at our folding party held in February!

MARCH 2020: Paper for Water hosted another wonderful Folding Party in March with over 110 volunteers. Thanks for helping us bring clean water to communities around the world.
FEBRUARY 2020: Paper for Water origami clubs participate in a variety of activities including: speaking engagements, fundraising, and origami demonstrations at public and private events. The Heritage Hall Paper for Water origami club in Oklahoma City was started by Luke, a fourth-grade student. Luke participated in the 2019 Paper for Water summer camp where he learned more about origami, philanthropy, water, science, and the world water crisis. He was inspired to make more origami and continue to be involved with Paper for Water. Luke decided to form the school club because he thought that other children at his school would enjoy knowing how to make origami while also helping to improve other people’s lives. The Paper for Water team is grateful for his heart of service, dedication, and talent!

MAY 2020: The Highland Park Paper for Water club hosted a drive-thru fundraiser to help raise funds for a handwashing station and bathroom for students at a school in Zambia. The student club successfully raised almost $1,000 and brought us one step closer to providing vital sanitation during the ongoing pandemic to some of the most vulnerable populations to the disease.
THE HEART OF DALLAS NCL CLUB FOLDS ORIGAMI FOR LOCAL HOSPICE HOSPITAL

NOVEMBER 2020: Risk Theory, a Dallas-based specialty insurance company, funded a beautiful Christmas tree for Faith Presbyterian Hospice. The ornaments for this tree were folded by the young members of The Heart of Dallas National Charity League Club and Paper for Water volunteers.

GLOBAL VILLAGE MARKET

NOVEMBER 2020: Paper for water was grateful to participate in Greenland Hills United Methodist Church's Global Village Market once again. This year was an especially lovely outdoor event. Thank you Ian for demonstrating origami folding.
GIFT WRAPPING FOR GOOD

DECEMBER 2020: Due to Covid-19, Paper for Water launched a creative, safe outdoor event to provide beautiful gift wrapping and support clean water. The members of Mockingbird National Charity League club came together to fulfill this fundraiser's needs by gathering supplies and spending a day expertly wrapping Christmas gifts at Withers Elementary School. While they wrapped presents with care, they were also giving the gift of clean water. This effort raised nearly $500 for Paper for Water's mission!

OCTOBER 2020: Zoe is an amazing volunteer who began volunteering at Paper for Water with her family several years ago. She shares her time and talent through her love of crafts and origami folding to help Paper for Water create CHANGE!

She attended an online summer Disney Camp and learned to create QR codes. Using this new skill she helped Paper for Water by making a QR code for tags on some special ornaments during the busy Christmas season.

Zoey and her family have helped with countless projects including our installation of 4,000 butterflies at Galleria Dallas.

ZOE MAKES QR CODES
DECEMBER 2020: We are grateful to Neiman Marcus for supporting our mission again this year. In the last three years, Neiman Marcus and The Heart of Neiman Marcus Foundation have helped us fund several water projects by selecting Paper for Water as a fantasy gift, offering our origami ornaments to their customers, and by participating in our Christmas Tree Project. They have shown their passion for the ART of origami and helped us provide clean water to the thirsty. Thank you to Neiman Marcus for your continued support and kindness and thank you for having us at your trunk shows at the NorthPark location.
CHANGE MAKERS
The Change Makers are a group of talented and motivated youth volunteers that have joined Paper for Water to contribute to our mission of bringing water and the Word to the Thirsty one piece of paper at a time. Their commitment has been instrumental to Paper for Water's success.

Together, they participate in Paper for Water's events, support various fundraising efforts and collaborate to bring new enthusiasm and ideas to Paper for Water.

Change Makers taught several in-person origami events in the first quarter. Followed by, leading virtual volunteer and service day events for corporations, participating in leadership conferences, and fundraising campaigns for North Texas Giving Day as well as North Texas Giving Day Now.
MARCH 2020: 1,036 students, teachers, and staff at St. Michael's Muluawa Secondary School in Kenya had limited access to water. The only water source available to this community was a single spring box located two kilometers away from the school. Often, students would arrive late to class or take their lunch breaks to walk the total distance of four kilometers in order to secure water from the spring box.

Travis Nolan and his Well Done 2020 Class water project have completely transformed the lives of this community who can now access water directly from the school grounds. Paper for Water was started to help keep kids in school through giving the gift of water and Well Done 2020 has done exactly that over the course of a year's efforts to raise the funds. Thank you Travis for your determination and kindness.

Read the full report here.
SEPTEMBER 2020  Every year, the Communities Foundation of Texas gathers people together to foster the spirit of giving and generate support for charities on North Texas Giving Day.

To prepare for this event, each member of our Change Makers Council filmed their own video discussing why they love Paper for Water and crafted statements about why they care about the water crisis.

During this time, our Change Makers took the lead and invited people from the community to be a part of our mission to provide clean water and sanitation to communities around the globe.

Thanks to the tireless efforts from our Change Makers Council and our supporters, we were able to raise $12,117 to fund future water projects.
YOUTH PHILANTHROPY CONFERENCE

JUNE 2020: Paper For Water's Change Makers were honored to be a part of a collaborative conference with SynerVision Leadership Foundation and PAVE (Philanthropy And Volunteerism and Entrepreneurship). PAVE was founded by Bob Hopkins who is an adjunct professor at Eastfield College. Bob is an adamant believer that anyone can be a philanthropist.

Kids (7-12 years) and young adults (13-22 years) participated to learn about how youth have the capacity to give back to their communities and make a difference in our world through philanthropy.

THE END FUND EVENT LED BY TRAVIS

MARCH 2020: Travis has dedicated countless hours to represent Paper for Water at various local community events to spread awareness and raise funds for water projects around the world. The End Fund Virtual Team Building event is another example of his willingness to give back to communities without water.

Travis is an accomplished origami folder and teacher who uses this craft to help others. In spite of the challenge of 2020 many of our young volunteers and supporters have dedicated extra time to create for the greater good and change for those without access to clean water and sanitation.

VERIZON'S ANNUAL VOLUNTEER DAY

DECEMBER 2020: Paper for Water was invited to participate in Verizon's Virtual Annual Volunteer Day. We had a great time teaching Verizon's employees about the world water crisis and how to fold origami. Verizon's generous donation helped us impact a community in Rwanda with a clean water project.
GOING VIRTUAL
MARCH 2020: Paper for Water participated in our first virtual fundraiser thanks to the big hearts and generosity of Paper for Water supporters, Kobin King and David Hudgens. Their annual Tulip Party guests were invited to participate in origami folding, a water walk, mixing a quarantini, dance party and of course virtually viewing the beautiful tulips. Korbin and David were instrumental to the fundraiser’s success and their generous Tulip Party participants funded a life changing clean water well in Guatemala and helped fund the installation of a handwashing station and latrine at a school in Zambia. The Tulip Party raised a total of $6,100, demonstrating that virtual fundraisers can be a fun and successful way to raise funds and bring clean water and sanitation to communities in need. We are grateful to The Container Store and Tuttle Publishing for providing Paper for Water with items needed to create a beautiful display and origami paper for the virtual folding portion of the fundraiser.
JULY 2020: Founders Isabelle and Katherine led a virtual Fourth of July workshop that updated supporters and taught two patriotic themed origami crafts. It was a fun way to touch base with volunteers and people interested in learning more about origami and Paper for Water.

APRIL 2020: Paper for Water began participating in EarthX in 2013 with educational talks and displays about the world water crisis. Due to COVID-19, Paper for Water participated virtually in EarthX 2020. Isabelle and Katherine Adams led a live virtual workshop during the EarthXYouth Conference. They educated participants about the importance of clean water, the environmental impact of water usage, lack of clean water and sanitation in communities around the world, and taught attendees how to fold origami.

30 DAY ORIGAMI CHALLENGE

APRIL 2020: The pandemic forced the majority of the world to stay home during the month of April to prevent the spread of COVID-19. The Change Makers created a 30-Day Origami Challenge to provide an opportunity to learn origami during quarantine. New videos were posted on Paper for Water’s YouTube channel throughout April, featuring youth volunteers teaching a variety of origami designs. We received many comments that these videos were helpful in providing a creative outlet for kids across the nation and even around the world.

The Slate
Many events this year went virtual and Paper for Water stepped up to help make them beautiful. Volunteers folded countless hours to create customized installations for virtual events hosted by Dallas Baptist University, Philanthropy Southwest and The Slate. This was a creative way to bring the art of origami and Paper for Water's mission to more people.
AWARDS AND RECOGNITION
William began volunteering for Paper for Water the summer of 2018. Although he was only eight years old at the time, his passion for folding origami and helping people around the world gain access to clean water was inspiring. We think his heart for others will inspire you too. Watch his NTGD video.

William believes that everyone should have clean water. William became one of our Change Maker members and has folded thousands of hours and supported our mission in many ways. We were proud to award him the Paper for Water Volunteer of the Year Award for 2020.
NOVEMBER 2020: Co-CEO Katherine Adams was selected as one of the 2020 Power of Children Awardees by The Children's Museum of Indianapolis from a pool of hundreds of applicants. Six outstanding youth were chosen for the award. The Power of Children Award was created in 2005 to highlight kids finding solutions to address the needs of their community.

We’re proud to be part of this incredible list of life-changing young service leaders tackling real-world challenges with determination, skills, problem-solving, and the help of others that they invite to their causes:

- Clean water access
- Education for active citizenship
- Prosthetics for injured workers
- Reading for NICU babies and families
- Education for child laborers
- A system to prevent hospital-acquired infections

Paper for Water invites you to hear the stories articulated from the youth awardees themselves. The Power of Children Award video gives insight into what inspired them to start their projects such as when Katherine and her sister Isabelle found out as five years that a child dies every 15 seconds from lack of clean water.

“"When the Ebola outbreak of 2014 occurred, thousands of people died in Africa. However, in the communities with one of our water installations there were zero deaths. This shows just how crucial basic sanitation and hygiene are to a community.”

- Katherine Adams

MARCH 2020 During the holidays, Travis entered Irving Mall's #giftkindness contest to win $1,000 for a charity of his choice. #Giftkindness was started as an initiative to spread the magic of giving throughout the holiday season.

Travis won because of his outstanding fundraising efforts for Paper for Water when he raised enough money to meet his Well Done 2020 project goal which funded a water well at a school in Kenya. This project allows these students to drink clean water each day and wash their hands to prevent the spread of disease.

We are grateful for your heart for the Thirsty and your hard work. Congratulations Travis and thank you for all you do!

COVID-19 PANDEMIC

The need for clean water and sanitation has been accelerated by the global pandemic of COVID-19. Due to COVID-19, communities without clean or running water access have become more vulnerable to infection. Paper for Water has continued activities virtually and we are committed to funding water projects, educating the public about the global water crisis, developing youth volunteer leaders, and teaching the art of origami.

Our youth volunteers and supporters are at the center of our response to COVID-19 as they continue to fundraise and share Paper for Water’s mission to the public.

WATER ACCESS FOR MORE AMERICANS: The Navajo Nation had one the highest per-capita rate of COVID-19 infections within the United States. Paper for Water responded by providing 275-gallon refillable water tanks, an emergency stop-gap measure, to families in the Navajo Nation without running water. Nearly 40% of Navajo don’t have a tap or toilet at home. Providing the ability for hand washing and better sanitation is a key factor to combat not only Covid-19 but other water-borne illnesses as well.

SANITATION AND HYGIENE ACCESS: Paper for Water funded new bathrooms and handwashing stations at schools in Zambia and Haiti. These stations are critical to the prevention of COVID-19 infection.
MAY 2020: North Texas Giving Day NOW was created in response to the unprecedented increase in needs due to the COVID-19 pandemic. During the 24-hour fundraiser, the Change Makers each hosted a virtual fundraiser. With their support, Paper for Water raised over $8,000 during North Texas Giving Day NOW.
